PICTURE OF THE MONTH

PEOPLE NEWS

■ The wheeled mobile and crawler crane business at construction equipment manufacturer Liebherr's US division, has appointed

BEAU POCOCK

as business development manager for rough terrain cranes in the USA. Based at corporate headquarters in Newport News, Virginia, he reports to Brian Peretin, general manager of sales for mobile and crawler cranes. Pocock started young in the crane industry, working summers at Buckner Steel Erectors. Most recently he was a product manager at crane manufacturer Manitex.

■ MICHAEL HEACOCK has joined Morrow Equipment as vice president of sales. Heacock joins the executive team at Morrow headquarters in Salem, Oregon, USA. He is a graduate of the University of Washington and is a

OBITUARY

■ ICST regrets to report the death, at 93, of OTTO RETTENMAIER, founder at Transporter Industry International (TII) Group in Germany.

Rettenmaier was a multi-award-winning industrialist, holder of the Federal Cross of Merit First Class of Germany, Senator e. h. of the University of Stuttgart-Hohenheim and a patron of the arts. TII Group includes Scheuerle Fahrzeugfabrik, Nicolas Industrie and Kamag Transporttechnik, plus TII India.

In 1988 the entrepreneurial Rettenmaier acquired specialized transport equipment manufacturer Scheuerle "out of technical fascination," laying the foundation for the TII Group. Acquisitions followed, in 1995 of Nicolas Industrie and Kamag Transporttechnik in 2004. Indian subsidiary TII India later followed.

He was born in 1926 in the Swabian town of Holzmühle. After studying business administration he joined the family business, Faserstoffwerke J. Rettenmaier & Söhne (JRS). With his wife Lore, Otto Rettenmaier had two daughters and a son. Daughter Susanne manages the family holding company as managing partner with a board of directors. Otto Rettenmaier died on 23 July 2020, a few days before his 94th birthday.

member of the ASME B30.3 and 30.29 subcommittees, as well as the SC&RA tower crane committee.

Previously Heacock was at Manitowoc's

Potain tower crane division.

"We are excited to have Mike join our team and we are looking forward to his contributions to our sales and marketing," said Peter Juhren, Morrow president and chief operating officer.
